Mary Kay: Hi Dave. All right, tell us about Integrated Learning Systems.

David Powell: An Integrated Learning System, or ILS, is a complete software, hardware and network system package, that is used for is used for instruction and learning. An ILS provides curriculum and lessons that are organized by levels.

Mary Kay: All right Dave, a little more here. What types of features are typically associated with an ILS.

Dave: In addition to the standard lessons an Integrated Learning system usually includes a number of support tools, such as assessments, record keeping, report writing and user information files. These tools are useful in identifying students' learning needs, monitoring progress and maintaining records of students' learning.

Mary Kay: Sounds good. Thanks, Dave. Have a good afternoon.

Dave: You too, talk to you soon.

Mary Kay: This is Mary Kay Lofurno, Marketing Director at SyberWorks. Thanks for listening to episode #131 of the e-Learning Lingo Podcast.

This week, Dave Powell talked about Integrated Learning Systems. The episode #131 podcast audio and transcript will be posted on the e-Lingo Podcast blog.

Next time on the e-Learning Lingo Podcast, we'll talk about a term used in wireless networks. Until that time, have a great week.

Until that time, have a great week!
